

San Francisco Chronicle

LEAH GARCHIK

Leah Garchik

Wednesday, March 14, 2007

British artist Damien Hirst's first-ever show in the Bay Area, the multimedia installation "New Religion," opens at the Serge Sorokko Gallery on March 29, with a private reception on March 28. Hirst is famous for pickling animals in formaldehyde, but this show isn't that, so PETA demonstrators: Stay home. "Law & Order" reruns are lots of fun.